A fierce and strong lion broke a fence and got into a Cape Town holiday camp, damaging a taxi parked nearby.

Jenny Adams and her family from Durban were on holiday at the Golden Game Reserve Camp. Her children had never been to a game reserve before. She decided to give them a treat to celebrate their good results at school. She said that they were having breakfast outside and enjoying the lovely view around them when, at 7:30, her youngest son, Shaun, saw a lion running into the camp.

“The lion seemed frantic and was running around trying to find its way back to the Game Reserve. It seemed lost and started charging wildly,” she said. The lion attacked their brand new Mercedes taxi. “I am not sure if our family taxi can be fixed, it is so badly damaged,” she said.

The family could not pack their bags and go back home immediately because they had no transport. Jenny had to call her sister to fetch them.

Eventually at 10:00, the game rangers managed to get the lion back into the game reserve. Game ranger, Lucky Dube, said that they were not sure what had upset the lion.
